Genesis Emerging Markets Fund (GSS) was launched in July 1989 and was one of the first emerging markets funds to be listed in the UK. It aims to deliver long-term capital growth through investing in emerging and front market equities following an in-depth fundamental approach. The fund's benchmark is the MSCI Emerging Markets index. However, the manager is not constrained by the benchmark and focuses on investing in high-quality companies with above average sustainable long-term growth. The portfolio reflects the manager's highest conviction stocks and is typically meaningfully different from the benchmark.

In this webcast, Arindam Bhattacharjee explains GSS's investment objective and gives a brief background on the manager, Genesis Asset Management, and discusses its investment approach. He also discusses the outlook for emerging markets and the case for investing in the asset class, how the fund has performed and how it is currently positioned.
